

Crab will you Crab, Crab?

WHAT strange variety of food,
In this wide world we meet;
The fields, the forests, and the flood,
Afford a bounteous treat.

Nature her gen'rous lap unfolds,
To those who earn their living;
Old Ocean not a Crab witholds;
To all a part is given.